

How Secure Is Your Security Firm?

On the surface, security firms can look deceptively similar. Some client companies may even be tempted to believe that a local “guard” company can handle the demanding and potentially volatile situation of a labor action or strike. At Special Response we know that providing effective security involves a lot more than just providing men in uniforms. It’s what’s behind our men, and our company, that is your assurance of protection. We strongly encourage you to use this checklist to evaluate any firm to which you are considering entrusting your company’s security. We are confident that, item for item and dollar for dollar, you will find Special Response Corporation to be the #1 choice for strike, labor action and emergency security.
